MAJOR FEMALE INSTITUTE,
CLEVELAND, TENN.

Mr. W. H. Bradshaw, Principal.

The organization of this Institute will commence in the first week of January 1863, under the personal management of the Rev. Mr. Bradshaw, who has full charge of it for the last 15 months.

The Friends are shocked at this unfeeling world which seems to appeal to all feelings who have drowsed to educate, to send them to this institution. Mr. Bradshaw has had charge of the school for the last 15 months, during which time he has rendered service, in we might say, universal satisfaction to the trustees, patrons and pupils. There never was a better time for men to educate their daughters than now—money is plenty—everything a former "class bears."

What excess can there be now of a man's noogenesis to educate his child? None. Because here, in Cleveland a healthy locality, we have an Institute, with an excellent Instructor, aided by a sufficient corps of assistants, to instruct all who may favor it with their patronage. Let one and all put their shoulder to the wheel and mind no expense, as all local residents benefit by us and an honor to no one—We have the building and we have the funds—the balance devolves upon the people. We hope they may easily perform their duty.

The Friends are thinking to the litigions for the patrimonial estate of Bradshaw before long, and are glad to know that under all administration the Institution has not lost any of the valuable reputation it sustained in the latter days of the Republic.

THE DAILY REBEL.

PUBLISHED BY

Franc. M. Paul.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, DEC. 31, 1862.

PERSONAL.

Brig. Gen. William Carroll is in Chattanooga. We are pleased to observe him in excellent good health, so gallant and勇敢 as of old.

Walter G. Overton, late of the Louisville Courier and afterwards of the Express, and more recently of a Yankee prison, has arrived in Chattanooga.

Our "spiritual blessing" is due Dr. Nagle for a superb bottle, or a bottle of superb Catawba wine.

Tom Cutchfield delighted a party of friends with a bowl of Egg Nog (out of pure Jamaica rum) on Christmas day. We have been examining over the reminiscence ever since, and conclude on mature deliberation that "our host" on that occasion was the "noble Roman" of them all!

Brigadier General Lyle, of Philadelphia, commanding a brigade of Pennsylvania Cavalry, was killed in the battle of Fredericksburg.

General Ungh Kelly, a prominent citizen of Baltimore county, Md., died a few days ago.

Among recent deaths of prominent citizens at the North, we notice the following: Henry F. Jackson, of Baltimore; Benjamin Adams, Louisville, and George Anderson, of Wheeling.

Andrew Wallace, a venerable citizen of Columbia, S. C., died in that city last Sunday.

Miss Hettie Cary is under arrest in Baltimore for planting a Confederate flag in the presence of a New York regiment drilling in front of her father's residence.

LATEST FROM THE NORTH.

We continue our extracts from late Northern papers (up to the 24th) as began on yesterday.

THE CABINET EMBROILED.

The Lincoln Cabinet troubles are by no means at an end. The Herald's dispatch says:

"It is not best for the public to cherish an illusive hope that the Cabinet embroiled is at an end, especially during a period of such friends that his resignation or ministerial duties were made dependent upon two conditions whose non-fulfillment would eventually compel his resignation; and though Mr. Chase today signified to the President his consent to return to his department, it seems apparent that his action also will be made to depend so far as any permanent occupancy goes upon contingencies.

Meantime Stanton feels stronger than ever, and seems to be conscious of the influence rapidly continuing against him. His personal relations with Mr. Blair have long been most unfriendly, and the latter comes of a race and family unused to defeat. The Senate is like a strong army repelled in a bold attack. It faces back in good order, and calls a council of war, possibly to plan a flank movement. Such is the cause of to-day that it will abandon the enterprise it has undertaken. It is not within the range of possibility that the war now declared will most likely involve the House in its struggles, and already the representatives are anxiously consulting on the subject, and unless the President yields, it will soon be Congress against the Executive, and the result of such a struggle is not difficult to foretell. Never in a free Government has an Executive successfully defied the Legislature.

It is significant that Senator Wade was to-day closed for hours with the President, during which time the latter was engaged all visitors and it is unquestionable that the vacant senatorship in Ohio will operate to complicate existing difficulties.

BURNSIDE, HALLECK & CO.

This firm is before an investigating committee. The Congressional Gold Medalists are eagerly prying into the p's and q's of the late "repulse." The Times dispatch on the subject says—under date of the 24th—

The Committee on the Conduct of the War examined to-day Hallieck, Meigs, Woodbury, of the Engineers, and Hough, of the Inspector General Department, upon matters connected with the battle of Fredericksburg. Meigs' testimony was "mainly confirmatory of that of Burnside and the commanders of the three grand divisions." Hallieck stated to the Committee that McClellan had advised the preparation of bridges in advance; bridges were not sent forward, however, for fear they would be captured before the army reached that point. The testimony of Burnside and his Generals will, when made public, make the Army of the Potowmack the admiration of the world.

General Wadsworth has been assigned to the command of the 2d division of Sumner's corps.

Gen. Burnside returned to-day to the headquarters of the Army of the Potowmack, opposite Fredericksburg.

The drinking saloons in Memphis have been closed by the Federal authorities.

We understand a detachment of rebels,

captured in the neighborhood of Grayson

Cove, numbering about 40, reached Athens, Tuesday night last.

Mostly young "substitutes" failed to report at Camp Curtis, Pa., and, as a consequence, the original drafted men are in a very anxious frame of mind at the loss of money and the prospect of musket and bayonet service.

Admiral Farragut, the naval hero of the Civil War, has just issued a circular to all the ports of the South, calling for volunteers to serve in the navy.
